In a world where sustainability and environmental compatibility of industrial products are becoming increasingly important, CCM GmbH presents a groundbreaking innovation: the introduction of a new product line of F-Zero coatings, completely free of fluorinated compounds. This innovation positions CCM once again as a pioneer in this field of coating technology, especially in the highly specialized market for liquid glass coatings, where the company is considered one of the global market leaders.

For corporate clients worldwide, active in the coating sector, whether in trade or industrial application, this product innovation represents an opportunity to be at the forefront of sustainability and innovation. CCM reaffirms its commitment to quality, environmental protection, and the provision of unique solutions to the industry's challenges.
